Dear Editor,

I am proud to introduce you to BookScouter.com, a price-comparison website for online book buyback companies. As the semester ends, students will be looking to get the most money out of their used textbooks. There are many online book buyback companies but they all offer different prices and features.

BookScouter connects you with more than 40 different buyback sites instantly, ensuring you get the most out of your used textbooks. On average, students have found that they are receiving nearly double the cash they would have at their campus bookstore. I can't think of a better way to end a semester! This FREE service provided by BookScouter is the best way to clear your clutter and earn some cash.

Please take a moment to review the information included in this Press Kit. With no registration and no obligation, I'm sure you'll be itching to give BookScouter a try. Feel free to contact me for more information.

Best Wishes,
